

Requirements and Models

Requirements

- The system must allow the user to make different copies of the same piece of writing for revision.
- The system must offer reminder for the user to practice writing.
- The system must provide writing prompts for the user to create poems from the prompts.
- The system must provide a mechanism for sharing poems for feedback.
- The system must provide a way to share poems on blogs and other sites - as they appear on the application.
- The system must cancel distraction so the user can focus on writing.

User stories

- As a consistent writer, I need a way of making working copies of my work so that I can see my train of thought and take it in different directions.
- As a busy professional I need a reminder system to remind me when to write so that I can maintain writing as a habit.
- As an amateur writer I need to be prompted on what to write so that I can learn how to generate ideas.
- As a professional writer, I need to share my writing with peers so that I can get detailed feedback from them.
- As a reader, I would like an easy, non-invasive way to comment on a writer's work so I can help writers grow.
- As an digital native that writes, I need a to be able to share my writing on popular blogging platforms so I can share my work with my usual readership.

User Profiles

Casual writers

Robin is a casual writer. Robin has always had an interest in writing but has not formal training. Robin does, however, watch and read a lot of poetry and would like to learn as an autodidact. Robin needs an application that will help nurture and sustain an interest in writing. The poetry Robin writes is for personal reading and acts as a personal journal. Robin would, however, like to share some poetry for feedback to close friends.
